

Portable Group Fitness Audio System

Safe • Fun • Effective

A new safe way to lead, motivate and increase the fun of your Group Fitness activities.

Fluent's Group Fitness Audio System is a wireless fitness communication system that allows fitness leaders to transmit your own customized music/audio tracks (from your phone) through a small wireless transmitter to your group of participants' receivers while simultaneously giving instruction and exercise commands to participants. All wirelessly, with clear audio and a fantastic operating range. Instructors hear the music as well as their own voice through the headset mic they wear, so they know exactly what participants are hearing.

This is a great solution for fitness instructors that want to create workouts that allow people to get together and motivate each other by working out in a group setting.

Flexible, Rugged & Great Sound

Your HIIT, SPIN, Zumba and other group fitness activities can be held anywhere your creativity takes you. Your clients will be amazed by the comfort and ease of use that allows you to meet in parks, hiking trails and other unique locations which will make your exercise program memorable. This system is extremely portable, easy to use and transport.
