

Fluent Discreet Wireless Interviewing Kit

The Fluent Audio Wireless Interview/Coaching System is designed to enhance interviews and interrogations with seamless communication. This innovative system allows an observer outside the interview room to discreetly guide the interviewer by sending questions or prompts without interrupting the flow of the conversation or alerting the suspect. With a short transmission range of 200 feet, all communications remain securely in-house.

The system works in conjunction with the Fluent Wireless Earpiece, ensuring covert operation. The interviewer wears a compact wireless receiver, conveniently placed on their belt or in a pocket, connected to a discreet loop that fits comfortably under their shirt. Audio is transmitted through the loop and inductively delivered to the earpiece, ensuring clear and private communication.

With 25 available channels, multiple interviews can be conducted simultaneously without interference, making this system ideal for professional environments requiring efficiency and discretion.
